Discussion

Panel Chair David Lansner canceled the original meeting date, September 21st, which had been approved when the 2023 calendar was released last December. WRI made a concerted effort to reschedule the meeting, including sending a poll to find a fitting date and time. After the poll results were finalized and a new meeting date was shared via Outlook calendar, Mr. Lansner called for the meeting to be canceled again. WRI reminded him of the quarterly meeting requirement, stating that if the meeting were canceled the Panel would be out of compliance with the statute. All NYC Panel members were also notified of this. WRI kept the meeting on the calendar and two members attended.

The Panel members who attended discussed the current state of the Panel, feelings of having no guidance, and concern for the future of the Panel's work. They planned to continue this conversation at a later date.
